Thousands of Records Hacked at Latham Health Billing Company

Health and insurance records for more than 270,000 people from the Capital Region and elsewhere in the state were potentially stolen after computer hackers got into a healthcare billing claims company this spring. The break-in at Med Associates, which has been in business since 1988, is the fourth-largest records breach in the state since federal law required public disclosure of such attacks starting in 2010.
